The Keeper of
The Musée Royal

Sir,

I have in my collection of pictures one which may prove of interest to the Museum. It is "A Spanish Lady at her Bath" by A. Moutaert. The picture portrays the interior of a Moorish palace, a Spanish lady standing erect with one hand lightly resting on a table covered with a Dutch table cloth, and a Moorish woman passing a by behind casting envious eyes on the beautiful white lady.

The picture is a copy - about 1730 - but the defects in perspective and the signature in the old Dutch lettering lead one to suppose that it is a true, faithful & beautiful copy of the 16th century artist Adrian Moutaert. I ask for it the sum of £50 and if you are interested I shall be pleased to send a photograph of it. The size is 24 inches by 20 inches condition is perfect.

Yours Faithfully,
Sergeant.
