

A UNIQUE WILKIE.

A picture of world-wide celebrity—Sir David Wilkie's "Jew's Harp"—the property of a Yorkshire lady, will, we understand, be offered for sale by Messrs. Puttick and Simpson, Leicester-square, London, early in August next. The work, which is stated to have been painted in 1809, and is on panel 10in. by 8in., is fully referred to in Allan Cunningham's "Life of Sir David Wilkie, R.A." The picture is stated to be the only known important example by Wilkie outside one of the great National Galleries.

3 Boar Lane Chambers
Basinghall Street

63 & 65, ALBTON STREET,

LEEDS.

25th July 1907

Dear Sirs,

"The Jew's Harp" by Sir David Wilkie R.A.

The Owner of the above beautiful Picture is a Client of mine and she wishes me to send you the enclosed News-cutting & especially to call your attention to the last paragraph.

Messrs Puttick & Simpson have not yet definitely fixed the date of the Sale but will on application send Catalogue in due course.

Am I not right in thinking that you would wish to compete for this Picture for your renowned Museum? I am
Yours very respectfully
Benson Bailey

Messrs La Commission Directrice du Musée
Musée Royal de Belgique,
Bruxelles.
Belgique.